HORACE GREELEY AUTOGRAPH FOUND

Discovered in Bunch of Legal Documents Where It Has Been for Many Years

IT WAS WRITTEN IN 1855
Famous Journalist Gave It to Friend in Dubuque, Now Resident of Chicago

(By Mrs. J. S. Earl).
PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Aug. 31.—After lying for thirty-five years among a trunkful of papers in an attic in Prairie du Chien an autograph of Horace Greeley's has been brought to light and restored to its owner for whom it was penned by the great journalist nearly sixty years ago.

It is written upon a leaf in an old-fashioned traveling portfolio, and the sentiment inscribed above the famous hieroglyphics, is one that, after a score of years, echoes pathetically the disappointments and unfulfilled ambitions of the writer.

Years steal
Fire from the mind and vigor
And life's enchanted cup but Sparkles near the brim.

HORACE GREELEY,
Dubuque, Iowa,
March 20th, 1855.

The owner, Mr. Sumner Stiles a native of New York, came to Crawford county seventy years ago, and was one of the first school teachers in Wisconsin.

Afterward he engaged in stock buying and grain dealing at Prairie du Chien, in the early days of military and river traffic.

In 1878 Mr. Stiles removed to Chicago where he still resides now nearing his 90th year. Upon his departure from Prairie du Chien he left a box of legal documents, business papers, etc., stored in the home of Mr. Thomas A. Savage, a long-time friend and business associate.

In 1901 Mr. Savage passed away, and the papers belonging to Mr. Stiles were not examined until this summer.

Explains Autograph.
Upon receiving his portfolio, Mr. Stiles wrote as follows:
"That portfolio I had owned and carried about with me for many years."

"In March 1855 I traveled and occupied a seat by Horace Greeley in the stage coach from Galena, Ill., to Dubuque, Iowa. He was on his way to fill a lecture appointment at Dubuque that coming evening."

"There was deep snow on the ground, day sunny, a rather brisk wind, and when out about three or four miles passing along the foot of the bluffs skirting our drive we were passing a gully or break in the bluffs."

"When a driving current of wind came rushing down and swept his white hat from his head past me. I jumped out, got it against his remonstrances and handed it to him."

"We drove about a mile further when another blast repeated itself and he was too quick in grabbing me, saying: 'It is my own turn to chase.'"

"He shook out the snow, climbed into the sleigh, placed the hat in the bottom of the rig, set both heels into it and pulled out a woolen comforter from the pocket of his do-skin overcoat, and turban-fashion and twisted 'round his head, saying: 'We will see if we can't put a stop to this kind of a frolic.'"

"He was very chatty all the way. When we struck the Mississippi he removed the sash, stuck it in his pocket and replaced his hat."

"We both put up at the Julian House, in Dubuque, he walking ahead to register. I after knew we were given rooms on the same hall opposite each other."

"The house was filled with people many from the rural districts who had come to attend his lecture. Among the travelers was a young man by name of Humphrey, just graduated for a law school, on his way to Hudson, on the St. Croix river, to hang out his sign as an attorney."

"After we had been located Humphrey said, 'I see your name registered with Mr. Greeley. May I ask if you are his secretary?' I replied, 'no, that my name being with his was simply accidental. He wished to be introduced and would like to get his (Mr. Greeley's) autograph.'"

"Mrs. Greeley's supper was taken to his room on a tray. That over I took my portfolio and Mr. Humphrey to Mr. Greeley's room. When our errand was over I handed him my portfolio and requested him to write on a fly leaf."

"He wrote as follows:
"Years steal
Fire from the mind and vigor from the limb,
And life's enchanted cup but sparkles near the brim."

"I signed his name beneath. We retired to my room and found we had a puzzle. We could not read a word of it. So back we went and as he answered our rap, sharp and quick, he laughed saying, 'I anticipated your request. Not one in a thousand can read my writing.' So he interpreted and I wrote below his."

BEATTIE TO TAKE STAND TOMORROW

Alleged Wife Slayer Will Tell His Story in His Fight to Escape Death

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Aug. 31.—The strongest card yet shown in defense of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on trial for the murder of his wife was played on the table today.

During the recess H. M. Smith, chief counsel for the defense declared that his client would take the stand at the opening of court tomorrow.

"We have witnesses who will occupy the remainder of today's session and will put Mr. Beattie on the first thing in the morning."

A mysterious witness surprised the prosecution today with the declaration that the Sunday before the killing, Paul Beattie was at his post as a bridge watchman, carrying a single barreled shotgun. Paul Beattie had insisted that he gave the gun to his cousin Henry, the accused man, on Saturday night.

Prosecution is Started
The witness who threw a bomb into the camp of the prosecution was Ernest H. Nebbitt, a paper mill superintendent. He declared that at eight o'clock Sunday evening he saw Paul Beattie standing in the doorway of a little building at the end of the bridge with the shotgun in his hands.

"When he saw me, he put the gun inside the doorway," said Nebbitt. If Nebbitt's story is established one of the principal features of Paul's testimony on which the prosecution had founded its whole case, will be contradicted. In a brief cross examination, Special Prosecutor Wendenburg was unable to shake Nebbitt in the slightest degree.

After springing this sensation the defense settled down to examine half a dozen character witnesses to prepare the way for the placing of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., himself on the stand.

Buelah Binford a Puzzle
Buelah Binford, sweetheart of the accused man, since she was 13 years old, holds the secret that would condemn or clear Henry Beattie. But neither the lawyers who seek to send Beattie to the electric chair nor those who are working to save his life, would admit today that they would place the gray eyed girl on the witness stand, either to prove or disprove the tale on which depends the life of the accused man.

Both prosecution and defense are afraid of her. Despite a series of vicious third degree examinations, her real attitude was just as much in doubt today as it was when Henry Beattie was arrested for the murder of his wife. And she laughingly admitted it. "If they place me on the stand, I will tell the truth," said Buelah with a tinkling, childish laugh that echoed through the iron walled jail in Richmond, where she is confined. "I can't tell you what my testimony will be but it will be the truth."

Swinging her silk clad ankles to and fro she answered questions. Evidently not a thought as to the fate of the indefinitely calm eyed

WRECKED SAILORS FOUND ON SPARS

Thrilling Story of Rescue Told by Crew of Gale Beaten Ship

LASH THE MEN TO MASTS

Schooner Breaks Up in the Storm, Leaving Stumps of Masts Above Waves

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—A thrilling story of rescue from almost certain death just after all hope had been abandoned was told by Captain Henry M. Dodge and his crew of eight men of the four master Malcolm B. Zevey, when they were landed here today by the Clyde liner Mohawk. The Zevey which was owned in Bath, Maine, cleared from Tampa, Fla., with a cargo of phosphate on Aug. 16. She had fair weather until she reached a point off Cape Roman last Saturday when she ran into a fearful gale. Mounting seas swept her decks. One wave caught a Portuguese seaman, known only as "Tony" and swept him to a watery grave.

Captain Dodge finally anchored Saturday night in the hope that he could outride the gale which was constantly increasing. Throughout Sunday the schooner was battered by terrific winds and sledge hammer waves which strained her stout timbers.

Finally she began to drag. The other anchor was thrown over but the schooner, laden low, was taking water too fast for the pumps and seams were opening fore and aft.

Captain Dodge finally ordered all hands into the rigging and they lashed themselves to the masts. But the schooner was slowly breaking up and by daylight Monday she had settled until only her spars were above the water. The big waves broke continually over the men tied there and they were suffering from cold, hunger and thirst.

Monday night the spanker mast to which Captain Dodge and a sailor were tied, went by the board. The sailor managed to cling to the stump by the captain was washed clear, tied fast to a cross spar. The wreckage caught and held and the captain remained almost submerged until on Tuesday. Then the other members of the crew got a line to him and pulled him back with them and they managed to hold to the wreckage until the Mohawk came along and saved them.

Boat Load Rescued
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 31.—Fighting monster combers for seven hours in the open sea in a small lifeboat, Captain Hanson, his wife and two children and the crew of the schooner Josie R. Burt were rescued today by the local life saving crew. They were utterly exhausted.

The Burt, enroute from Baltimore to Belfast, Maine, ran into the storm off Barnegat last night and soon became unmanageable.

The waves pounded the schooner to pieces and all hands took to the schooner's boat. Monster waves tossed this frail craft but it was kept afloat until life savers brought the shipwrecked party ashore.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 31.—The death role of the recent storm reached a total of seventeen here today when a force engaged in cleaning up debris found additional bodies. The damage will reach a million dollars.

The Merchants and Miners liner Lexington stranded at the mouth of the Edisto, was reported to have been floated today. Reports indicate that the entire crop of sea island and long staple cotton has been destroyed.

HOBBOES TO CONVENT

ADVANCE GUARD OF ARMY OF VAGABONDIA STRAGGLES INTO WASHINGTON; ALL AFTER JOBS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The advance guard of the army of vagabondia today straggled into the national capital in preparation for the "convention of the unemployed," beginning tomorrow. The main body of "delegates" will come tomorrow from Baltimore, where they have been mobilizing.

James Eads How, the "millionaire hobo," who is promoting the convention, is arranging for transportation by trolley from Baltimore. Those who can't raise the price will "hoof it." The convention will urge upon congress enactment of laws establishing a governmental employment bureau.

THREE KILLED IN AUTO

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 31.—William Bourlier, 27, and Mrs. Lillian Riorean, 30, were killed and Rene de Pere fatally injured near Johnson early today when their automobile skidded against the guard rails of a bridge and fell twenty feet over a precipice. They were returning from a dance.

STAND PAT FOR PROGRESSIVE

Milwaukee Democrats Say State Organization Is for Dr. Wilson or Champ Clark

MORRIS STIRRED THEM UP

Tribune Interview "Gets a Rise" and Joe Davies Is Defended by Partisans

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The inside history of the meeting of the democratic state central committee, which named Joseph Davies as national committeeman, is getting into circulation, much of it leaking out as the result of a recent interview by Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, of La Crosse, in which he warned the democrats of the state against the Harmon organization.

That interview created a good deal of a stir among democrats about the state, and the question here arose as to where "Tom" got his "dope." While recognizing that the Harmon crowd, backed by "business in politics," is seeking to corner the democratic presidential nomination, and further that there is in Wisconsin, and doubtless within the democratic state central committee, an element that would be glad to further the Harmon plans, progressive democratic leaders declare that the election of Davies was an overwhelming victory for the progressives, and insures the Wisconsin delegation for either Wilson or Mr. Clarke, with some mention also of ex-Governor Folk of Missouri.

It wasn't all peace, that central committee meeting, by any means. Charges of stalwartism were made and denied, and a lot of heat was engendered, the discussion at times growing personal and taking on a warlike aspect.

The present committee was named in a "Bryan year," and its majority seems to entertain a kindly feeling for him. Such reactionary representatives as have a voice in the organization, it is claimed, have not a "look in," and the machine inclines an attentive ear to the oracle in Nebraska. It is asserted that if Mr. Bryan finally turns to Dr. Wilson, the Wisconsin delegation will be for him.

"Joe Davies is a progressive," said a prominent "inside" democrat today. "The committee is progressive by an overwhelming majority, and our La Follette friends need not fear that we will not back a progressive candidate. The thing they want to watch out for is the chance that voters may think we are backing a better progressive than they are supporting."

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Mr. Morris did not say Mr. Davies was not a progressive. His interview was that latter contained within the quotation marks in The Tribune story of Aug. 24, and contains no reference whatever to Mr. Davies.

CRISIS IN BASEBALL

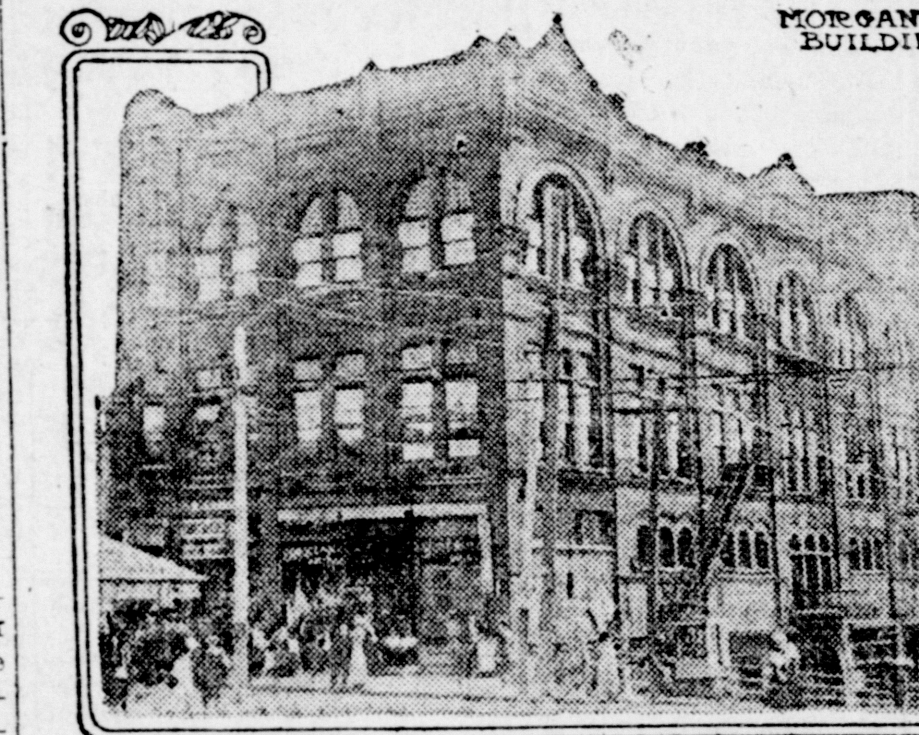

NATIONAL COMMISSION HAS A HARD NUT TO CRACK THROUGH DEMANDS OF AMERICAN ASS'N

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—Members of the national baseball commission today awoke to the realization that at the present session they are facing a crisis following a late session last night in which the American association's demands were discussed. The commission realizes that the future of organized baseball depends upon the action they take in this matter. The association demands are: Five thousand dollars for every player drafted by the major leagues; the drafting to be done on July 1; a higher classification than any other minor league with the exception of the Eastern league; that the American association may have the right to purchase players under the same conditions as the major leagues; only one player to be drafted from a club in a season; the right to take all cases or appeals to the national commission without interference on the part of the National association. If these are granted it means that the American association will practically be placed on the same footing with the major leagues.

PHONE GIRLS STICK IN SPITE OF FIRE

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—During a $100,000 fire in a four story building in the heart of the loop district early today, nurses in the Chicago eye, ear and nose hospital had great difficulty in keeping patients from jumping from fourth floor windows. The fire was confined to the first floor. One hundred girls working in a telephone exchange on the sixth and seventh floors of an adjoining building stuck to their switchboards during the fire.

SAYS TAFT IS IN WITH INTERESTS

Bryan Declares President's Reasons for His Vetoes Are Lamentably Weak

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 31.—"The president's reasons for vetoing the tariff revision measures passed by congress were lamentably weak. The farmers ought to remember that the president has deliberately surrendered them to the greed of the protected interests and cast in his lot with those who furnished his campaign funds. The president's veto of the cotton reduction bill will furnish further evidence of the subservience to the exploiting classes. No relief is to be hoped for him."

In this wise Wm. Jennings Bryan sums up his opinion of Taft in an extended review of the work of the special session. He declares also that several mistakes were made by the democratic house. One was putting a tariff on raw wool, another in adjourning without submitting an amendment for direct election of senators, another in not passing an anti-trust bill and another in permitting a secret caucus to control legislation. Greatest of all he puts down the making of Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee.

"He was not a thorough going tariff reformer and his environment is against progressive democracy. The party had a right to expect that a positive and progressive opponent of the whole protective policy would be placed at the committee's head. The mistake has already cost the party dearly."

WAR RISKS GO UP

BELGIAN ACTIVITY ON THE FRONTIER SPREADS ALARM OVER STRAINED RELATIONS OVER MOROCCO

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Lloyds today announced another increase in war risks of from five to seven per cent. It is believed this action was caused by the activity of the Belgian government in increasing its frontier garrisons and making other military preparations to insure neutrality of Belgian territory.

The European press generally takes a pessimistic view of the resumption of negotiations over the Moroccan situation between Germany and France, especially because it is believed that France's offer of concessions in the Congo will prejudice British interests there.

Germany, it is said, is not willing to accept a concession which will be approved by England.

ALLEGED SWINDLER IN MESHERS OF LAW

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31.—W. W. Keith of Fort Worth, Texas, was examined today by Assistant United States District Attorney J. M. Dickey on charges of fraud preferred by the postoffice department. He was arrested last night in Minneapolis by postoffice inspectors who have been working on the case. It is alleged that Keith volunteered to give twenty-five lots to the first twenty-five persons that bought tickets for certain theaters with which he had made arrangements. When the coupons for the land were presented, it is charged Keith demanded $100 for the abstract, while the land itself was worth less than that amount, it is claimed. Keith claims to represent the Keith Texas Townsite and Immigration company, and that the land is located in the vicinity of El Paso, Texas.

FUND NEARING $2,000 MARK

Solicitors Meet With Fair Success, but Must Work Fast to Complete $10,000

CAN INCREASE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Can Give More if You Want and Those Who Have Not Signed Can Still Come In

With approximately $1,900 still to raise to complete the $10,000 fund to insure the removal of the toll on the La Crosse wagon bridge the committee in charge of collecting the money is arranging a whirlwind campaign to complete the fund.

Up to date La Crosse business people have donated well towards the fund but in order to fill up the city's part of the agreement the $10,000 must be completed soon.

The committee this morning announced that the donors who wish to increase their subscriptions can do so and they also urge all who have delayed signing to come in at once.

The Tribune is today publishing a complete list of those who have donated and the amounts subscribed. This list will be revised from day to day until complete.

Secretary Harry Taggart of the Retail Merchants' association is optimistic.

"I have no doubt but that the $10,000 will be raised O. K.," he said this morning. "The merchants of La Crosse realize the value to them of having the toll removed from the bridge and are doing everything to make this possible."

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Generally fair tonight and not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin: Generally fair weather except probably showers in northeast portion tonight or Friday; warmer tonight.

For Minnesota: Generally fair tonight and Friday; warmer east portion tonight.

For Iowa: Fair tonight and Friday; warmer east portion tonight.

Weather Notes
The southern storm is slowly dissipating over the east gulf states and the northwestern depression is central over Manitoba. The pressure is high over the north Atlantic states. Heavy rain has continued over the Atlantic states, several stations reporting over one inch, and light local showers have occurred from the upper Mississippi Valley into Manitoba; elsewhere the weather has been generally fair. The temperature is higher this morning in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys and lake region and lower in the Dakotas and Manitoba.

Generally fair weather will prevail in this section tonight and Friday without much change in temperature.

MINNEAPOLIS BOYS ON CANOE TRIP

On Way to Dubuque They Camp Near La Crosse; Rescued Man in Lake
Pepin

Drifting down from Minneapolis in canoes, three high school boys of the Mill City stopped at La Crosse last night on the last leg of their journey to Dubuque. They left Winona yesterday morning, and floated down the river with their canoes tied together, making camp late yesterday afternoon about three-quarters of a mile above the railroad bridge on the Minnesota side. Last night they were in La Crosse to purchase provisions.

There were originally four in the party when they left Minneapolis, Roy Dutton, Fred Hamley, Walter DeMille, and Everett Hopperstad. Hopperstad became sick after they left Minneapolis and was forced to turn back. The three lads are traveling in two canoes, the Linger-Longer, a 17-footer, and the Bide-a-Wee, 16 feet. The only freight they carry is a portable camp stove, two shelter tents, and their knapsacks.

They started out Monday, August 21, and expect to reach Dubuque about September 3. They are taking it easy, stopping a day or two when they find a good spot to camp, and only paddling enough to keep the canoes in the current.

Rescue Man in Lake

All three of the boys have been in the "drunk" at least once, but they all swim like ducks, and have taken no harm by it. Crossing Lake Pepin they rescued a man who was in a skiff in the middle of the lake without oars, having broken them during the night. They have all had queer experiences in their trip on the Father of Waters, but all, according to De Mille, who acted as spokesman, are having the "time of their lives."

They are pupils of the West High school in Minneapolis, and one, Dutton, is the son of the city engineer. De Mille owns and operates a business of selling artesian water after school hours. Their camp, which they pitch every night, they have named "Camp Duthamde," a combination of the names of all three.

STOCK DISEASE IS NOT ANTHRAX

Monroe County Epidemic
Found to Be Rare Kind
of Trouble; Cattle
Are Dying

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—What was suspected to be the dreaded anthrax in a herd of cattle at Tunnel City, Monroe county, turns out upon analysis here to be hemorrhagic septicaemia. This infectious disease, although comparatively rare, may develop into an epidemic unless promptly placed under control. Its nature has never been fully understood.

Dr. Charles Schmitt of the state livestock sanitary board went to Tunnel City Wednesday to investigate a supposed case of anthrax on the farm of Richard Wendorf. He pronounced the malady hemorrhagic septicaemia. Analyses are being continued at the laboratory in this city. Three of the cows have died and others are afflicted.

This disease broke out in Kenosha county about three weeks ago and Dr. A. H. Hartwig, state veterinarian, visited one farm where thirteen cattle were infected.

Ontario, Vernon county, is the seat of a hydrophobia epidemic which has set the whole village up in arms against all roving dogs. As a result, three men, one of them being Geo. Downing, owner of the mad dog which started the outbreak, are taking Pasteur treatment in this city, after being bitten. The cattle on the farm of Lyman Boldon, near Ontario, were found suffering from rabies, and a staff man from the state sanitary board sent the heads of two cows to Madison, where examination confirmed the diagnosis. Boldon was instructed to quarantine his herd.

The officers of the state livestock sanitary board were moved yesterday from the Washington building to Rooms 324-325 on the third floor of the west wing of the capitol.

LOCKNEY WILL RESIGN

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—No appointment of a successor to Ira L. Lockney of Milwaukee as assistant factory inspector under the industrial commission has yet been made. Mr. Lockney continues as inspector but in a new field, having been transferred to Superior to take the place of State Factory Inspector H. P. Peterson, who resigned. Mr. Peterson's resignation will go into effect Sept. 1. He held the office for ten years, having been appointed by Commissioner Halford Erickson when the latter was at the head of the labor bureau during the first term of Gov. La Follette.

TWIN SISTERS WED ON THE SAME DAY

PRESTON, Minn., Aug. 31.—Misses Dora and Nora Hard, twin daughters of Mr. Geo. W. Hard of the firm of Hard & Kuthe, were married here Wednesday at 10 a. m. Rev. Kaup officiating. Miss Dora Hard was married to Dr. Paul Hasse of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Nora Hard was married to Mr. Ray Demmer, a well to do hardware merchant of East Palestine, Ohio. A brother of the groom, E. A. Hasse, secretary to the president of the Nickel Plate railroad of Cleveland, Ohio, was best man, and Miss Merle Anderson, oldest daughter of Banker C. M. Anderson, was the bridesmaid.

The brides are both graduates of the Preston high school and spent several years in musical colleges developing their musical talents.

The newly weds will spend their honeymoon at Kilbourn City, Wis., at the Dells of Wisconsin, and will be at home to their friends on Oct. 1.

Dr. Fred Hoffer and wife, the latter being a sister to the twins, were here to attend the wedding.

The picture theater, the Gem is doing a nice business under Dr. Geo. Harrington's management. It is run three nights a week.

Great preparations are being made for the Fillmore county fair here Sept. 13, 14, 15. Three big free acts have already been engaged, besides a big speed program.

Matt Strum, deputy sheriff and jailer, has returned from a two weeks' land hunt in North Dakota and Canada.

Martin McCullum got the contract for the new sixty foot iron bridge west of town, which was washed out during the flood of a week ago.

The new Tibbitts hotel here is doing an excellent business now under the management of Charles Glinder.

Mr. Nason of Minneapolis, architect, is here with the plans and specifications for the new Carnegie library and town hall. The city council met Tuesday to let the contract for a $16,000 building.

The Wesley Male quartet of La Crosse sang here last night to a fair sized audience.

Apples and plums, as well as brook trout, are to plentiful here that they feed them to the hogs.

Cushman B. Tibbitts, showman and promoter, will leave soon for Chicago for a month's visit.

Every automobile and rig available here was engaged Wednesday to go over to Cresco, Iowa, to take in Miller Bros'. 101 Ranch Wild West show.

Mr. M. J. Breman, road master for the Milwaukee road, was up Thursday on a tour of inspection after the washouts on the branch.

TOMAH WIS

Dan Whitney, one of the early settlers of Monroe county died at his home on the north side Monday morning at 12:04 o'clock. Death was caused by a stroke of paralysis, which of a short duration, he being in fair health for the past three months. Deceased came to Tomah in 1855 from Philip, Me. For 25 years he was married to Rachael Martin, who died after which he was married to Ida M. Blackman, who survives him with two adopted children, Miss Catherine Whitney and Mrs. Charles Reynolds. He also leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Mrs. William MacDonald of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. W. H. Stees of Bloomer, Wis., and three brothers, Andrew and John of Merrill, Wis., and Charles of Tomah.

Mr. Whitney first stocked Mud, Deer and Mill creeks, carrying trout over from Tan creek. Before this there were no trout in these streams below the Tunnel City range. This will be long remembered by those he benefited.

The track layers on the M. S. and N. W. R. R. are working from Wyville west. The steel is now laid within four miles of Dodgeville, one mile north of this city. This work is done mostly with machinery. It takes thirty men to operate one machine and it lays between two and three miles of track a day. It is quite an interesting sight to see the machine work and many people of this city are planning to see it at work at Dodgeville, where it is due next Thursday.

The tunnel through the bluff at Tunnel City is being built for the double track. The tunnel will be 1300 feet long, 32 feet wide and 31 feet high in the center. The excavation is now about one-half completed. There is about one hundred and twenty-five men working at this including night and day shifts.

FIRE CHIEFS TO ADVOCATE AUTOS

Bradfield Says National Delegates Will Work for
New System; Change
Due Here

That the day is rapidly approaching when the automobile truck will be used exclusively by fire departments, not only in La Crosse, but in every city in the United States, is the statement made by Fire Chief Nathan Bradfield of the local fire department today.

Chief Bradfield, who will attend the national convention of fire chiefs to be held in Milwaukee September 19, says that the chief object of the convention will be to discuss means of equipping the fire departments with auto trucks in order to bring the fire protection of the country to a higher standard.

"Most of the large cities and not a few of the smaller ones already have met with excellent success thus far," said Chief Bradfield today.

Means a Saving
"The costs of the auto system is saved several times over in the course of a year by the change, as the departments arrive on the scene quicker and are able to handle the blaze before it has gained much headway."

The new system not only applies to the engines and chief's auto, but also to the hook and ladder truck.

A petition was presented for an auto for the chief here last fall but at that time no appropriation was made for that purpose owing to a large number of improvements that were deemed necessary.

However, steps will be taken again this year to procure an auto and according to Chief Bradfield all of the local departments will be entirely equipped with the new system within a few years.

AD BROWN ASSAILS RSCALL

A wife deserter should be allowed a salary during his term in jail in the event of conviction, the salary to be paid by the community and to go to the wife according to a resolution adopted almost unanimously at this afternoon's session of the American Bar association in session here. The resolution was a portion of the report of the committee on uniform state laws presented by Chairman J. F. Smith, Pennsylvania. It urged uniform "wife desertion laws" among states as one of the most important wants of the nation.

NEGRO SHOT TO PIECES

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 30.—A negro who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Pain at Fort Gaines, Ga., on Monday, was run down by a mob with bloodhounds in a swamp near that town last night and literally shot to pieces, according to a telephone report received here today. For the first time in local history, automobiles were used in the mob's chase.

MONOPOLY ON WIRELESS

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Lloyds has obtained a concession from the Egyptian government for the monopoly of wireless telegraphy in Egypt.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by all druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

THE LAUNCHING OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST BATTLESHIP

LAUNCHING THE GREAT BATTLESHIP
"RIVADAVIA"

View of the launching of the "Rivadavia."

QUINCY, Mass.—At high tide on August 26th the largest battleship ever built—an American built war ship for a foreign power—was launched at Fore river. This queen of the seas was christened "Rivadavia" and will be part of the fleet of the Argentine Republic.

The christening was done by Senora Isabel R. H. de Naon, wife of Dr. Romulo S. de Naon, Argentine minister to this country. Senora de Naon was a personal representative of Senora Rosa Saenz Pena of Buenos Ayres, wife of the president of the Argentine Republic.

STRICKEN TOWN TO HOLD A MEMORIAL

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—Plans for a big memorial to be held in commemoration of the terrible disaster Saturday night at the opera house here in which twenty-six persons lost their lives in a panic are being arranged. Two more victims were buried yesterday.

Burgess Dunlap will appoint a committee to make definite plans today. F. W. McVay, superintendent on the Canonsburg schools, said that school would probably open again Monday and that he is arranging a special memorial service for the nine dead boys and girls, victims of the tragedy.

HUNT FOR STOLEN PICTURE

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—That an American art connoisseur, whose home is in a western city, is being watched in connection with the search for the missing Mona Lisa was admitted by Collector Loeb yesterday afternoon. The authorities have no evidence to connect this man with the disappearance of the picture, Loeb said, but he has been an intense admirer of it and so he is being watched. Loeb said that the customs officials of every port in the United States have received secret orders to watch carefully for the picture.

TAFT WILL SPEAK AT EBERHART HOME

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31.—President Taft will begin his Minnesota speechmaking on his "swing around the circle," at Mankato, the home of Governor Eberhart, arriving there at 10:30 in the morning of Tuesday, October 24. Thence he will go to Minneapolis, arriving at 7:30 in the evening. He will spend the night in Minneapolis, and the next day he will be in the hands of the St. Paul reception committee, leaving St. Paul at 1:15 Wednesday evening.

This information was received by Governor Eberhart yesterday in a telegram from Charles D. Hilles, President Taft's private secretary. The telegram requests that the local committees wire full details of the program for the president's entertainment while in Twin Cities.

JAPAN INSTALLS THE NEW CABINET

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—That Baron Uchida, now Japanese ambassador to the United States, is to become imperial foreign minister, was made known today when the new cabinet which succeeds the ministry of Count Katsura was formally installed. The members of the new cabinet are Marquis Saionji, Baron Uchida, Count Yamamoto, formerly president of the Bank of Japan; Count Hayashi, General Ishimoto, formerly vice-minister, and Hasegawa. Count Hayashi will have charge of the foreign office until Uchida's return.

It is now stated that the treatment accorded the veteran statesmen of the empire by Premier Katsura, was one of the prime causes for his resignation.

STALKING THE DEMOCRATS
There has been a lot of fuss and feathers about Lieut. Gov. Tom Morris' forecast of an effort by the stalwarts of this state to capture the state democratic organization, having lost their grip on the republican machine, as to the truth of which the indignation of the reactionary
Leader-Press is the best evidence.
Our good friend, William F. Wolfe hastened to the defense of Mr. Davies, the newly elected national committeeman, avering that Davies is a progressive democrat. Perhaps Mr.
Wolfe is correct as to this. He wasn't figured largely in the argument, because outside information was to the effect that he was not touted to win, or even to have a "look in." That a cog slipped to let him in and that his election tipped over some nice little "cut and dried"
scheme, many still venture to suspect.

As to Davies' status in politics,
we remember him as a Bryan democrat three years ago, and as an antagonist then to reactionary control of the machine, two things much to his credit. A dispatch today assures us there is no string on him strong enough to prevent him from being a Dr. Wilson man, and it is certainly good news.

It certainly was not the purpose of the Tribune to "roast" anybody who is a real progressive, be he democrat or republican. We believe that the Wisconsin democrats should get squarely behind Governor Wilson as a matter of principle, and we further believe it is to their interest to do so as a matter of political craft. That we suspect the Wisconsin stalwarts are joining in the national reactionary movement to force the nomination of Harmon by the democrats need occasion no surprise. It would be in line with the machine's repudiation of Bert Williams after he had been duly selected as the senatorial candidate in a party convention, in order to back the reactionary Weiss-

to become the recipient of the votes
of the stalwart-Democratic alliance.
The Milwaukee Sentinel has discussed the rank and file of Wisconsin democrats are for Wilson. True, but that alone would not get him the delegation. It is our word to the rank and file of democrats that they must act as well as think. They must compel the election of a Wilson delegation, and if it be true, as is today asserted, that the majority of the machine is for Wilson, the matter ought to be cinched.

Dr. Wilson is accepted as a progressive, and we believe he is one.
Should the republican national convention renominate William Howard Taft, thousands of progressive republican votes in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana and other western and northwestern states will go to the democratic nominee if he shall be a progressive of such caliber and qualifications as to warrant confidence.
These votes would hesitate to go to Harmon, but they would go to Dr.
Wilson.

The Harmon movement was afoot
early, and was looking formidable two weeks ago. Backed by the prestige of power and money, it is still a factor to be dealt with. The "free copy" and the "boiler plate" are in circulation, and the "Wilson-is-allright-but—" talk is being handed out. However, since Senator Owen got the progressive clans together
and threw down the gauntlet the day after the Morris interview, a hard fight to defeat the plotters has been waged, and to such effect that Success Magazine in its current issue voices the following optimistic view of the situation:

"It has become apparent that the democratic national convention of 1912 is going to be really democratic. The effort of the old Alton B. Parker wing to gain control and nominate Harmon, has received a crushing blow through the declaration for Governor Wilson by both wings of the Pennsylvania democracy.

"The Harmon plan was to have the democratic machines in a few,
big, doubtful states—Tammany in New York, the Roger Sullivan machine in Illinois, Taggart in Indiana, Watson in West Virginia, and so on —bring in Harmon delegations. These organization bosses were then to say to the southern delegates, 'You see how it stands. Your states are democratic in any case. To win, you must give us a man whom the northern states want. We demand Harmon.'

"Indications are, however, that that plan is not going to work. The lines of alliance that will dominate the 1912 convention will run from the south, which is for Wilson, to the middle west insurgent regions,
also for Wilson; and, if one may prophecy at this stage, the nomination will go to the Jersey man who has so wonderfully impressed himself on the nation during the past year."

This sounds good, but those who view the campaign as a sporting event will do well to lay a little bet that the fight is not over, and to put down a stack on Wisconsin as one of the states in which the monopolistic interests haven't given up the idea of instructing a delegation to the democratic national convention for Judson C. Harmon of Ohio.

TAKE BEEF, FOR INSTANCE
Here is an example of the lucid
and convincing manner, in which Senator La Follette identified the Taft "reciprocity" bill as the "little brother to the Payne-Aldrich bill."
"I will next take beef. Beef on the hoof will produce from 55 to 60 per cent of dressed beef.

"A steer weighing 1,400 pounds will produce dressed beef to the amount of 800 pounds.
"Now, just an illustration: Assume that a 1,400 pound live steer is worth 2 1/2 cents a pound. It does not make any difference how you figure it, but assume it is worth that.

"The tariff under the present law
would be 27 1/2 per cent ad valorem, or $9.63. If imported in form of dressed beef, the tariff under the present law is 1 1/2 cents per pound, or $12. Of this $12, $9.63 is the compensatory duty, leaving $2.37 as the protective duty to the packer. This,
by the way, covers more than the entire cost of converting the steer into dressed beef. But what do we find in the bill? Cattle are free, so there is no compensatory duty to be considered. The bill proposes a duty of 1 1/2 cents per pound on the dressed beef, and in the case of 800 pounds of beef produced from the steer the tariff will be $10, all protection, against $2.37 under the present law. This is an increase to the packer of 322 per cent over what he has in the Payne-Aldrich law."

A Psalm of Fashions
Tell me not, oh, Fashion Number!
That the new modes are a dream,
For they seem nightmares that cum-ber
Shapes that are not what they seem.

Hips are gone in deadly earnest!
Women still resemble poles!
Not a single curve returneth
'Twixt their shoulders and their soles.

Waists are long and skirts they're meeting
Somewhere near the lowly pave;
But no hobbled woman's fleeting—
'Twould but land her in the grave.

Scores of puffs and rates remind us
We can make our heads sublime
By attaching them behind us
And eradicating time.

Let us, then, be up and doing,
Pulling in and puffing out;
Still achieving, still pursuing Every mode that comes about.
—Judge.

The Meanest Man

Two strangers met at one of the small tables in a dining car. They found a common bond in the effort to secure something to eat, and by the time the coffee came they were on friendly terms.
"I wonder if you will do me a favor?" said the first one, as he paid his bill. The other man seemed receptive, and the first one continued: "Have you a lower berth for tonight?" The man across the table nodded. "Well, I am traveling with my mother, who is rather well along in life, and I am anxious to make her comfortable. Would you be willing to give her your berth?"

"I should be delighted," responded the stranger. They went back to the sleeper, where the accommodating man was presented to the otherer's mother, a white-haired old lady with a charming face. The good samaritan had exchanged his lower berth for the upper, belonging to the old lady, and was radiating with a sense of kindness. It led him to remark affably to the other man,
"But where are you going to sleep?"
"Oh, that's all right," was the answer, "that's my lower berth over there."—Mack's National Monthly.

This meeting at last did take place, not by the original motion of Jeanne herself. The eye of her mistress had not been wholly blind
all these days.

"Jeanne," she demanded one day, "why are you away so much when I desire you? I have often seen you and that young man yonder in very close conversation. Since I stand with you as your guardian and protector, I feel it my duty to inquire, although it is not in the least my pleasure. You must have a care."

"Madame," expostulated Jeanne,
"it is nothing, I assure you. Rien du tout—jamais de la vie, Madame."

"Perhaps, but it is of such nothings that troubles sometimes come.
Tell me, what has this young man
said to you?"

"But, Madame!"
"Tell me. It is quite my right to demand it."

"But he has said many things, Madame."

"As, for instance, that you please him, that you are beautiful, that you have a voice and hand, a turn of the arm—that you have the manner Parisienne—Jeanne, is it not so?"

"But, yes, Madame, and indeed more. I find that young man of excellent judgment, of most discriminating taste."

"And also of sufficient boldness
to express the same to you, is it not so, Jeanne?"

"Madame, the strong are brave. I do not deny. Also he is of an excellent cooperative business in St.
Genevieve yonder. Moreover, I find the produce of the grape in this country to increase yearly, so that the business seems to be of a certain future, Madame. His community is well founded, the oldest in this portion of the valley. He is young he has no entanglements—at least,
so far as I discover. He has an excellent home with his old mother.
Ah, well! Madame, one might do worse."

"So, then, a cooperative business
so promising as that, Jeanne, seems more desirable than my own poor employment? You have no regard for your duty to one who has cared for you, I suppose? You desert me precisely at the time my own affairs require my presence in Washington."

"But, Madame, why Washington?
Is that your home? What actual home has Madame on the face of the earth? Ah, Heaven! were only it possible that this man were to be considered. This place so large, so beautiful, so in need of a mistress to control it. Madame says she was carried away against her will. Mon Dieu! All my life have I dreamed—have I hoped—that some time a man should steal me, to carry me away to some place such as this!
And to make love of such a warm-ness! Ah, Mon Dieu!"

"Behold, Madame," she went on,
"France itself is not more beautiful than this country. There is richness here, large lands. That young man Hector, he says that none in the country is so rich as Mr. Dunwoody—he does not know how rich
he is himself. And such romance!"
"Jeanne, I forbid you to continue!" The eyes of her mistress had a dangerous sparkle.

"I obey, Madame. I am silent. But listen! I have followed the fortunes of Madame quite across the sea. As Madame knows, I do not lack intelligence. I have read—many romances, my heart not lacking interest.
Always I have read, I have dreamed of some man who should carry me
away, who should oblige me—Ah, Madame! what girl has not in her soul some hero? Almost I was about to say it was the sight, the words, of the boldness, the audacity of this assassin, this brute, who has brought us here by force—the words of his love so passionate to Madame, which stirred in my own heart the passion! That I might be stolen! It was the dream of my youth! And now comes this Hector, far more bold and determined than this Mr. Dunwoody. That assassin, that brute began, but hesitated. Ah, Hector has not hesitated! Seeing that he would in any case possess myself, would carry me away, I yielded, but with honor and grace, Madame. As between Monsieur Dunwoody and Hector—il y a une différence, Madame!"

"Je crois qu'il oui, Jeanne—je le crois! But it comes to the same thing, eh? You forsake me?"

"Madame, I confess sometimes in my heart there comes a desire for a home, for a place where one may abide, where one may cease to wander."

Josephine sat silent for a moment. In what direction might she herself now turn for even the humblest friendship? And where was any home now for her? The recreant maid saw something of this upon her face.

"Madame," she exclaimed, falling upon her knees in consternation.
"To think I would desert you! In my heart resides nothing but loyalty for you. How could you doubt?"

But Josephine was wise in her own way. That night Jeanne kissed her hand dutifully, yet the very next morning she had changed her mind. With sobs, tears, she admitted that she had decided to leave service, no longer to be Jeanne, but Maame Hector Fournier. Thus, at the very time when she most would have needed aid and attendance, Josephine saw herself about to be left alone.

"But, Madame," said Jeanne, still tearful, returning after brief absence from the room, "although I leave now for St. Genevieve to stand before the priest, I shall not see Madame left without attendance. See, I have asked of this Lily person—lavoici, Madame—if she could take service with Madame. Madame plans soon to return to the East. Perhaps this Lily, then—"

"Ma'am, I want to work for you!"
broke out Lily suddenly, stretching out her hands. "I don't want to go back home—I'd only run away
again. They'd have to kill me."

Some swift arithmetic was passing through Josephine's mind at the time. Here, then, was concrete opportunity to get in practice some of her theories.

"Lily, would you like to come with me as my maid?" she demanded. "Could you learn, do you think,
in case I should need you?"

"Of co'se I could learn, Ma'am.
I'd do my very best."

It was thus that it was agreed, with small preliminary, that on the next morning Tallwoods should lose three of its late tenants. Josephine ventured to inquire of Dunwoody regarding Lily. "Take her if you like," said he brusquely. "I will arrange the papers for it with Clayton himself. There will be no expense to you. If he wants to sell the girl I'll pay him. No, not one cent from you. Go on, Lily, if you want to. This time you'll get shut of us, I reckon, and we'll get shut of you. I hope you'll never come back, this time. You've made trouble enough already."

FRECKLES GONE

"Simple Remedy From O. T. Erhart Removed Them," Says Society Lady

"The best skin specialist told me that nothing would remove my freckles and that I would carry them to my grave," said a well known society woman, "but I fooled
them all with a new drug, othine—double strength, that I bought at O. T. Erhart's, which cleared my skin and gave me a fine complexion."

The action of othine is really remarkable, for when applied at night,
many of the freckles disappear entirely by morning, and the rest have begun to fade. An ounce is usually all that is needed, even for the worst case.

Be sure to ask O. T. Erhart for the double strength othine, as this is sold under a guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

Women's Secrets
There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr.
R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help.
That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a mil-

CLAPP SAYS TAFT HAS BECOME PEEVED

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 31.—
"The knowledge that he has no chance of re-election has made President Taft irritated, dictatorial and bull headed." This is the opinion of Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota today, before his departure for Fresno, where he speaks tonight.

"Taft doesn't know how to handle people," Clapp continued, "and nobody knows that better than Taft himself. This knowledge has made him sour, peevish and fretful."

Two thousand persons last night
heard Clapp defend the initiative,

frage.

Scotch Generosity

Robbie met a neighbor who was smoking some fine, fragrant tobacco sent by his son in America. He took out his own pipe ostentatiously.

"Ha you a match, Candie?" he inquired.

The match was forthcoming—but nothing more.

"I do believe," said Robbie, "I ha'
left me tobacco to home."

"Then" said Sandie, after a silence, "ye might as well gie me back me match."—Success Magazine.

Vacation Tips

Don't drink on your vacation, for worth the scandal.

Even though you neither go

avoid a drop too much.

Try a fashionable vacation. The Heroic Treatment

The physician turned to the office
patient in the canvas coat and leggings.

"You must follow my directions implicitly," he said, handing him a small vial of liquid. "You are to take

"Three drops in water every four bewildered manner. "And I'm an av-

THIEVES FIRST STORE VISITORS

Robbers Break Into Syrian Store Night Before It Was to Open for Business

On the day before his new store was to open for business, the general store of Abed Farris, 518 Hagar street, was broken into by robbers and $500 worth of goods, according to Mr. Farris, was taken. The robbery was committed last night.

The robbers gained entrance from the rear door of the store, cutting through a panel in the door with a knife. When Farris came down to the store this morning he found his well ordered stock entirely disarranged. The clothing was piled in the middle of the floor, and part of it was missing. Beside the heap of clothes which the robbers had not taken, were found two sweaters, two pairs of shoes, and two caps, which it is believed the robbers discarded for the new garments which were missing from the stock.

In addition to the clothing which was taken, a box of jewelry, several pieces of lace, and other easily transported but valuable articles were taken from the stock. That the thieves grew hungry during the night is proved by the fact that two muskmelons and about a dozen peaches were stolen. The thieves pulled everything to pieces, in the attempt to locate goods of value.

Outside the store this morning found footprints of two men which ran from the rear door to the alley nearby, but were lost in the dust at this point. The police are working on the case, using the garments which the thieves left as a clue.

Farris, the proprietor of the store, was intensely excited this morning over the robbery, and declared that if he ever found the men who broke into the store he would "shoot them quick."

LICENSE CASE IS IMPORTANT

Notice Served on Saloon on Rose Street Has State-wide Significance, Says Marvin

That the action taken by residents of the Fifth ward to revoke the license of the Olaf Larson saloon, 801 Rose street, has a state wide significance as a test case concerning the law limiting the number of saloons, is the belief of Alderman George B. Marvin of the Ninth ward.

Notice was served this morning on Larson, proprietor of the saloon, that the action would come up for trial at the next term of circuit court. The citizens who are behind the action assert that the city council exceeded its power under the state law, in granting a license to a new saloon, in a location which has not been previously used as a saloon. The defense declares that the city has the power of granting licenses each year to the number which were in effect in 1907, when the law limiting the number of saloons in a city went into effect.

Mr. Marvin this morning declared that while it was not intended merely as a test case, the action against Larson would in all probability have the effect of one.

"No such case has been tried in the state before," said Mr. Marvin, this morning, "and I expect that this will be in the nature of a test case. I also expect that no matter which side of the case wins in circuit court, the matter will be taken before the supreme court for a final decision."

AT END OF LONGEST AIRSHIP TRIP ON RECORD

ATWOOD WITH GRIP FULL OF LETTERS

ATWOOD AT GOVERNORS ISLAND

Aviator Harry N. Atwood alighting at Governor's Island, New York, after completing his Mississippi to Atlantic flight. Above is a picture of route to be distributed. This is the first time on record that an airship has actually made a practice of carrying letters from one section of the country to another. Individual notes and messages and even packages have been delivered by airship, but never before have miscellaneous messages and letters been conveyed through the air.

There is a strong likelihood that Atwood will retire from the aviation field resting on his honors, having broken the world's record for distance.

PINCHOT PRAISES BOB LA FOLLETTE

Former Forester Talks at Progressive Meeting in St. Paul; Forerunner of Campaign

CONSTRUCTIVE STATESMAN

Says Wisconsin Senator Is Fair, Clean, Straight and Uncompromising Fighter

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31.—Gifted Pinchot, former chief forester in the department of agriculture, who stopped off in St. Paul Monday night on his way to Alaska, where he purposes to get first hand knowledge of that country's resources, declared that the development of that territory was going to be one of the two big questions before the next session of congress. Mr. Pinchot also came out in words of strong praise for Senator La Follette and made it plain that he favors the Wisconsin man for president in preference to Mr. Taft.

Mr. Pinchot's declaration for La Follette was one of the features of the short talk which he made at an informal gathering at The St. Paul, where a number of progressives had been invited to meet the former forester. Mr. Pinchot's relations with the president have been well known, but this is believed to be the first time he has declared himself publicly in such warm terms for the Wisconsin senator.

People Are Progressive. "The people were never as thoroughly and convincingly progressive as they are now," he said. He said that one could hardly realize the increase of independent thought among the people and how well informed the plain people are on public affairs. "The political salvation of this country is not merely the man who does his own thinking, but who has the nerve to act as his conscience dictates."

"The time is coming very soon," he said, "when the weight of the progressive movement, the influence of men who put principle above party, will be controlling the candidates and platforms of both parties. There is a ferment at work in this country which will have wonderful consequences. No one notices this so much as when one is away. I was away three months this year and three months last year, and each time was amazed on my return to learn that things I thought would be many months or years off were matters of common talk on the street corners. In the conservation movement we have attained the things we worked for sooner than we ever hoped, and the same you will find true in the progressive movement."

Pleased With La Follette. "I said that I was pleased at things that have happened in Washington recently," he continued. "I am especially pleased with the work that La Follette has been doing in congress. I have lately learned to know him well and I have found him fair, clean, straight, strong, lovable, reasonable, and he has captured my affection altogether. He has been known as an uncompromising fighter, and he is all of that. Some people have thought that he shone mainly when in opposition; that he was only a destructive force. This summer however, we have seen him exhibit qualities of constructive leadership that have pleased us all and when we have read the record we have found that he showed the same qualities when he was governor of Wisconsin. We found that the work of regulating the water monopoly which we thought had been begun by the conservation commission was in reality begun by La Follette four or five years before we ever thought of it."

"When we consider that this man, who is so feared by the business interests, especially the predatory interests, put in effect in Wisconsin business methods that the business men would not abolish now under any consideration, it proves the old saying that there is nothing so timid as $1,000,000 except $2,000,000."

Reception for Pinchot. The meeting, which was held in the Windsor room at the hotel, was attended by about 125 people from various parts of the state who had been invited since it became known Saturday that Mr. Pinchot was coming. A number of them, including Representatives C. A. Lindbergh and Sydney Anderson and Lieutenant Governor Gordon, were called on for short talks.

H. T. Halbert, who had arranged the affair, called on W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis to act as chairman, and Nolan explained that the meeting last night was the first of a series of meetings to be held by the progressives. Thursday of next week they will have a big banquet at Minneapolis, at which C. E. Merriam of Chicago, candidate for mayor against Carter H. Harrison, is expected to speak.

NATURE HEALS

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 10, 1911.

MR. JOS. RIESE, La Crosse, Wis.

Dear Mr. Riese:—

Having received such a great deal of benefit from your treatments, I am more than glad to submit to you this testimony. For about ten years I had been a sufferer from rheumatism. I was laid up several times, being unable to do anything, and suffering a great deal of pain. Like all sufferers from this dreadful disease, I tried everything that was recommended to me, including a course of treatments at Hot Springs, Arkansas, but all in vain!

Through my friends I heard of the wonderful results you were producing and so decided to try your treatments. To my great joy I soon got the relief I had so long been looking for.

I can now attend to my work with pleasure and feel like a new man. With all my heart I recommend your treatments to my friends and others who are looking to be relieved of their troubles.

Very sincerely yours,

JONES SIVERSEN,
1804 Loomis Street,
LA CROSSE, WIS.

GENERALS TAKE LEAGUE PENNANT

The Copeland Park Indoor league ended their season yesterday, when the Generals won the championship by defeating the Infants, 5 to 1. Both Jameson's Colts and the Generals played a strong game throughout the whole season, they being the strongest contestants for first place, and interchanging in first and second places a number of times during the summer. Copeland Stars and Slashers played strange part of the season then toward the bottom again.

The Generals lined up as follows: Bott, c; Harris, p; Jalin, 1s; Zeider, 2s; Asselin, 3b; Knebes, 2b; B. Schroeder, 3b; O'Neil, rf; Moshem, cf; W. Schroeder, lf; B. Asselin, 1b, substitutes.

Bott, captain of the winners, played a good game behind the bat throughout the whole season, while Harris proved a good slaban and pulled himself out of many tight places.

Standings

	W.	L.	Pct.
Generals	19	8	.704
Jameson's Colts	19	9	.679
Copeland Park Stars	16	11	.593
Slashers	15	12	.555
Infants	13	14	.482
Benedicts	11	17	.393

It is hoped that arrangements can be made to play for the championship of the city, a team picked from the Copeland league, playing a series of three games with the winners of the Hood street and West avenue play ground leagues.

TEACHER OF MUSIC FOR COUNTY SCHOOL

The County School of Agriculture expands its scope of work. The last move has been the employment of a special teacher of music. Miss Anna Aiken of Onalaska, who has had charge of the music classes in the public school of Onalaska for the past two years, will have charge of the new work. Regular instruction will be given in orchestra, band, glee club, quartet and assembly singing. Part of the instructor's time will be available for those wishing private lessons on piano or other instruments.

Miss Aiken has made music a special study, having worked at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Ohio, and studied under special instructors for several years, as well as having finished a course in public school music at the La Crosse normal school and during this summer has been pursuing a course at the American Institute of Normal Methods at Evanston, Ill., graduating there in the summer of 1912.

Modern Young Person (showing friend around Paris)—This place is rather jolly at night; but of course, it's not the sort of place to take your mother to!—London Opinion.

DIAMOND DUST

It is impossible to determine which is to be considered the more important feat: Marty O'Toole winning his first big league game by 6 to 4, or veteran Cy Young shutting out the Pirates by 6 to 0.

Youth, they say, will not be denied, but in this case neither youth nor medieval age would give up without a victory.

The Scandinavian battery O'Toole and Kelly, staged one of the most perfect cases of "rattles" seen on a big league diamond in many and many a year.

O'Toole passed ten men and struck out nine, allowing the Rustlers only four hits. In addition he got two singles and stole one base.

Kelly was so weak with the stick he had to be taken out, Gibson replacing him as the receiver.

But while all laud O'Toole, don't forget that Grand old man of baseball. Unconditionally released by the Naps, the veteran appears in a Boston uniform, holds the Pirates to five hits and doesn't let them score a single run. And there are some more victories to come.

Rain prevented three National league games yesterday—at Brooklyn, New York and Philadelphia.

The Cubs have more unplayed games than any other big league team and they will be played off in Chicago, where loyal fans can cheer the Cublets in their final fight for the pennant.

The big league magnates are gathering in Cincinnati for the drafting season. Many are the hoping youngster in the trolley leagues that the lightning will strike them.

Hughie Jennings has started to get that new pitching staff, and an unknown named Taylor, from the Texas league, will join the Tigers in Detroit Saturday.

WOLGAST WILL MEET PACKEY ON FRIDAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31.—Packey McFarland and Champion Ad Wolgast will meet in the ring here next Friday night, but not as opposing fighters. They will be opposing seconds, for Wolgast will be in the corner of Mike Gibbons, while Packey will be behind Jimmy Clabby. Packey McFarland is not overlooking anything in his training for his bout Sept. 15 with Ad Wolgast. After a hard workout yesterday he stepped on the scales. The beam wavered at 138. He must weigh in at 153 at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight.

PROGRESSIVES TO GO AFTER TAFT

Houser Says Dozen Will Take President's Trail
and Hammer His Speeches

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Aggressive and confident, W. L. Houser, friend of La Follette and former secretary of state of Wisconsin, talked today of the hopes and works of the progressive presidential headquarters established in Washington. Houser declared that the organization was not in favor of La Follette personally but was designed to bring about the nomination of a progressive republican on the national ticket next year.

"We are going to control the republican national convention and defeat Taft's efforts for renomination," he said.

Houser declared that James E. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, is at work in Ohio in opposition to Taft and to get delegates to the national convention. Gifford Pinchot is counted by Houser as one of the big factors in the cause.

Senator Borah, Idaho, was rated in the last two sessions as an able progressive but he did not go the whole way with the radicals of that faction. But Houser said Borah is in line.

Houser named nearly a dozen progressives in the senate and as many in the house, who, he said, would follow the trail of Taft in his trip to the west and would hammer the speeches made by the president.

Progressives Brown of Nebraska and Kenyon of Iowa, were conceded by Houser to be Taft men but he claimed all the others.

Houser's only reference to Taft was indirect, and to the effect that "there was a man who, if he was nominated, could not possibly be elected."

SCIENTIFIC POINT CLEARED UP

Size of Water Particles Now Known

of Clouds.

It seems rather singular to speak of the "age of clouds"—of "old clouds" and "young clouds," yet it really appears that such a distinction can be made, and that the discovery, as so frequently happens in matters scientific, was based upon a preceding mistake.

The conclusion was reached years ago in scientific quarters that the density of a cloud was proportioned to the number of water particles it contained, the water particles, in turn, depending upon the particles of dust present. Later, however, these same authorities ascertained that their first conclusion was wrong, and that in many clouds the density falls far short of proportionality with the number of water particles. Further investigation points to the fact that the size of the water particles changes with the "age" of the cloud. The clouds upon which the first observations were made must, it is thought, have been old clouds, and in them the water particles, being comparatively large, appeared to be proportional to the density. But the later observations were made upon newly-formed or young clouds, in which the particles were small in size.

or old sight. Every one's eyes begin to fail at forty to forty-five years of age, and properly fitted glasses are the only means of making the eyes normal. If fine print is hard to read, sewing and writing is done with difficulty, and your eyes begin to smart and burn, it is a sign that your eyes have begun to fail. Properly fitted glasses will restore your eyes to perfect vision, burning and smarting and headaches will cease. For fifteen years I have been examining eyes and fitting glasses, being a graduate optician my work is done correctly, and gives satisfaction. Reasonable prices for first class glasses. Spectacles in aluminum frames, $1.50 to $2.50. Spectacles in gold filled frames, warranted 20 years, $3.50 to $5.00. My guarantee of perfect satisfaction with every pair of glasses sold.

ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Nikola entertained the Sewing Society of the Wilson Colwell W. R. C. at her home on Cameron Ave. Lunch was served at five p. m.

Mrs. C. Hilbert also entertained the same society at her home on Avon street.

SURPRISE UPON MRS. COHEN

The ladies of the German Methodist church pleasantly surprised Mrs. I. N. Cohen at her home yesterday afternoon. It was in the nature of a basket picnic. A delightful afternoon was spent.

LUNCHEONS

Miss Edna Jacobson, 228 North Twenty-third street, entertained yesterday at a noon day luncheon of twelve covers.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Marjorie Hammond, 1625 Madison street, was hostess to a group of young women when she delightfully entertained as a little farewell gathering before many of them depart for their various colleges. They brought their work and enjoyed an informal afternoon. The guests were the Misses Mabel Bryant, Agnes Haugen, Hazel Josten, Emma Dittman, Clara Miller, Stella Trane, Anne Kinnear, Helen McArthur, Eura Sanders, Agnes Vincent, Florence Scofield, Lillian Walters, Cora Schultze, Agnes Hayes, Edith Pryor, Lillian Dittman, Irene Esch, Grace Gesell, Edna and Helen Jacobson and Laura Gilman of Madison.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Mrs. I. S. McLees, Belgrade, Montana, is the guest of Mrs. Cohen.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Joerschke leave today for Chicago, where they will visit with their parents, from there they go to their new home at Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Jesse Grant of Chicago, is visiting with her sister, Miss Nellie McDonald.

Mrs. Ellis B. Usher returned this noon to her home at Milwaukee.

Miss Josephine Traer, who has been spending a number of weeks with friends in the city will leave tonight for her home in Chicago.

Miss Fanny Clarke of Leeds, S. D., is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Clarke.

Mr. R. S. Van Nocker, who has been spending his vacation with his mother, has returned to Des Moines, Iowa, where he is attending Highland college.

OUTING FOR LOCAL INSURANCE PEOPLE

Mr. Joseph Martin, superintendent of the La Crosse district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, with Mrs. Joseph Martin, entertained the employees of this district and their families at an annual basket picnic in Myrick park Saturday. An excellent time was reported from start to finish. After a hearty dinner was partaken an indoor baseball game was played with Agents Mann and Ryan as captains. Assistant Superintendent Jones umpired the game, but was finally chased out of the field and replaced by Dr. Schafer of Winona, who could make a league ump sit up and take notice. Result, 23 to 13 in Captain Ryan's favor, who took the cigars as well as all gate receipts. In the ladies' ring throwing contest Miss Mueller of Sparta took first prize, a broom, and Mrs. Simons, a lace handkerchief. In the ladies' running race Cashier Alice Mockley took first, a box of candy, and Miss Tollefson captured second, a box of candy.

The men's ring throwing contest was won by Examiner Schafer of Winona, a fountain pen. Agent Mann, after a very close contest, captured second prize, a pipe.

The ladies' banana crate ball throwing contest was won by Miss Ryan, ladies' silk hose; second, Miss Mann, doll.

The ladies' tug of war, captained by the sisters, Miss Mockley and Mrs. Kenney, was won by the former's team, but as good sisters should, the prize candy was divided brotherly.

The little children's race was so close that they all left the winners of prizes.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the games was the tug of war between the three staffs of La Crosse districts, headed by Assistant Superintendents Steiner of Winona and Jones and Forseth of La Crosse. Mr. Forseth's staff took the first honors and will be kept with free smokes for some time to come. After a fine supper was finished and the ice cream about gone the party broke up and the La Crosse people entertained their visitors from Winona, Sparta and Tomah at the Majestic evening performance.

Mr. Joseph Martin closed his second year as superintendent of this district, which includes La Crosse, Winona, Sparta and Tomah, and the district has never enjoyed such a success as under his able management the last two years.

$1 PER HORSE POWER AUTO TAX IN EAST

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—Numerous complaints over the raise in the motor license fee in Wisconsin from $2 to $5 for automobiles and $1 to $2 for motorcycles came to the attention of Secretary of States Jas. A. Frear, and to inform himself of conditions in other states he sent for a copy of their automobile laws. A little red-covered handbook from the state of Vermont, received in reply, furnished sufficient data to put a kink in the average complaint in Wisconsin. This book revealed that Vermont automobilists must pay $1 per horsepower upon taking out a license. The average car is 40 horsepower, making the owner's tax $40. In addition he must register each year, paying at the second registration 75 per cent of the first registration fee and at the third registration 50 per cent thereof. This is not all: Every chauffeur (and this includes the owner who drives his car) must have a license, costing $2 extra, and must carry a chauffeur's number. All this money after costs of administration have been deducted goes into the state's highway fund, as in Wisconsin.

SPEAR GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM

One Experience With White Man's Weapon Was Enough for African Native.

When Mr. Montague, the English traveler, was in Africa, he gave to a native an old single-barreled gun, and the fellow was delighted. He put in a small handful of powder, and about a quarter of a newspaper on top of it, and finally a ball, and then rammed the whole charge down. Then he departed. In the evening he returned, with his face battered and swollen almost beyond recognition. "What have you been doing?" asked the Englishman, in amazement. The native sat down on the ground and said, sorrowfully: "A little after noon I found the track of elands, and I followed it until I found them feeding. I crept up to one of them. He was twenty yards away. I rested the barrel of the gun on a stone, placed the butt against my nose, directed the muzzle toward the eland, and pulled the trigger. I do not know what happened, for I was blind and deaf for some time, but when I came to I found myself lying at the bottom of the gully. The gun was beside me, my face was as you now see it, and the elands had gone away. Son of a white man, it was very kind of you to give me a gun, but it is too good a gun for me—too strong, too powerful. It needs the wisdom of a white man to rule it. Take it back. Farewell!"

CITY PREPARES FOR A COAL SHORTAGE

Because it is thought possible the railroads may be tied up later on account of strike trouble, for which reason it might be impossible to procure coal at a time when it is most needed, President J. T. Day has procured six more carloads of coal than are needed, so that there will be a supply on hand. This is for use in the pump house and will be stored in the shed there as soon as possible.

This action was taken because difficulty was once experienced in getting coal, and the board does not want a repetition of it. Although the extra cars will be in addition to the regular amount carried on hand, it will come in handy in case there is trouble at some future time and there will then be no shortage in the regular supply.

NEW WINDOW TO BE MADE HERE

E. F. Mertz Will Manufacture Puttyless Window Sash; Prominent Men Interested

TO BUILD FACTORY IS PLAN
Shipping Facilities of La Crosse Encourage Him to Locate in This City

E. F. Mertz, of Milwaukee, is in the city today exhibiting a puttyless window, and with the help which has been given him by the board of trade he expects to locate here to manufacture this new article. Already an organization in which many of the leading men in town are interested has been formed, but they have not as yet met to complete the details of organization. Mr. Mertz thinks that is but a matter of time before a factory will be constructed.

Originally Mr. Mertz got the idea of this window from a man who did not go very far with the work but who really started it. Small strips of lead are inserted in the frame of the window thus holding the glass in tightly and doing away with putty which is entirely unnecessary. By means of the lead the glass cannot possibly rattle or get out of place, and whenever the pane has to be taken out for any reason, all that has to be done is to run a knife in under the lead strip loosening it, then fasten it around the new glass. Besides doing away with putty altogether, the glass is of the best for street car or railway coach windows for it does not rattle as do ordinary windows. It has the endorsement of the leading architects in La Crosse for building purposes and they state that they will not hesitate in specifying it in their plans for they consider it excellent for homes and other buildings, says Mr. Mertz.

Mr. Mertz is enthusiastic over this window and he says that he decided to exhibit it here and planned to locate here because many of his friends in this city had told him that La Crosse was a hustling town. He also praises the shipping facilities of the city and says that when he gets started here that he will advocate buying the sashes from the industries located in the city. Another point in favor of La Crosse is that it is located in the center of a great manufacturing district.

Mr. Mertz is enthusiastic over the treatment accorded him by the board of trade for he says that they lent him much assistance in coming here and that his conferences with Secretary J. L. Utermoehl were entirely satisfactory.

He says that plans for the factory will follow soon after the organization has been completed. Samples of the puttyless window are on exhibition in Oyen's window on Fourth street between Main and Pearl streets where the advantages of the new invention can be seen.

MAIL WEIGHING STARTS AGAIN

New Order of Postoffice that Magazines Go by Freight Starts Second Mail Weighing

Following the recent announcement of the post office department of the government that periodicals must be sent hereafter by freight instead of mail, notice was posted this morning in the north side office of the Milwaukee road that mail weighing would begin tomorrow, and extend over a period of approximately 105 days.

Mail weighing began early this spring and continued for about three months on the Milwaukee road, to determine the amount and approximate cost of the mail service to the government. The new order of the post office department, however, makes a change in the amount of mail that will be carried by the mail cars, and thus a new mail weighing is made necessary.

A rumor to the effect that the inauguration of mail weighing a second time was due to a mistake made in the first weighing of this spring was today denied by G. W. Estover, head of the local division of the railway mail service. He declared that the new order of the department was the sole cause of the move.

The new order of the department in regard to mailing of periodicals provides that all magazines issued every month, bi-monthly, or at longer periods, must be sent by freight if an issue of sufficient quantity as to warrant is mailed.

That this order does not affect La Crosse or cities of the same size is the statement of Postmaster W. B. Tscharnar, who says that the order as issued by the post office department gives a list of the larger cities, such as Chicago, New York and Cleveland, from which periodicals must be sent by fast freight. The order is the work of a commission, Mr. Tscharnar declares, which is sitting in New York at the present time, in order to discover whether the government is receiving enough for the transportation of second class matter.

prisoner who faces the electric chair crossed her mind.

Fals For Four Years
"Do you love Henry Beattie?" she was asked.

"I like him awfully well," came the smiling but evasive reply. "He and I were awfully good chums. Maybe we were too good chums. But he and I had been pals for four years."

There was just a trace of resentment in her voice. Three years after Beattie met the gray eyed, golden haired girl he married the woman who was foully murdered on the Midlothian turnpike five weeks ago.

The silken ankles moved slower and the silvery voice grew softer. "I never had a chance," she complained. "I was too young. I didn't know what it all meant. But Henry was my friend. He took care of me when everything looked dark and dreary. I won't forget that. It's hard for a girl to make her way in this world when everything is against her."

Will Tell the Truth

The girlish laugh rang clear. "I can't tell you that," she said. "Wait till I take the stand."

"If Henry is acquitted will you and he be 'chums' again?"

A shudder shook the girl and she said quickly: "I never could trust myself alone with a man that had been accused of murder. I think I will never be alone with Henry Beattie again. I would be afraid."

And, with a shake of her head, the girl-woman shuddered involuntarily. Evidently the chain of circumstantial evidence the state had drawn about Henry Clay Beattie affected her.

Throwing herself on her iron cot

she concluded the interview: "Oh, I'll tell the truth. I'll tell the truth," and she sobbed with a motion of dismissal.

Not to Plead Insanity

It was settled definitely today that Henry Beattie will not plead insanity to escape the electric chair. He is determined to make his fight on its merits, and his chief counsel, Harry M. Smith, said: "You may announce definitely that he will not make any insanity defense. We are well satisfied with the trend of events and see no reason for changing our present plans."

CLOTHES NEEDED AT CITY MISSION

Superintendent Dewey of the City Mission today announced that the clothes room at the Mission is empty.

"We haven't a thing in the way of clothing, but the kind in demand just now is children's clothing. Poor boys and girls are daily calling for clothing that will make them presentable at school, but we have run out."

Mr. Dewey requests that people who have old clothes to spare—especially children's—send them to the mission or notify the people in charge there.

"We will call for them if they will leave addresses," announced Mr. Dewey this morning.

GINGER WATSON IS REINSTATED

Watson is back in an Outcast suit. Not only that, but the $50 fine has been remitted.

Ginger stood just one day of the castout business and then weakened, and President Elliott after one day of unavailing work in trying to locate a twirler came to the conclusion that Watson wasn't such a bad actor after all. The two met this morning, each anxious to make amends, but Wattle proved the quicker and shot out his promises to "be good" if he was taken back before the chief executive of the club had an opportunity to offer him his old position. Elliott of course accepted Ginger's promises and told him he would remit the fine if his work was satisfactory during the remainder of the season. There are still eight games left for the Outcasts, and two twirlers could not possibly handle them all. Watson left for Eau Claire this morning.

LAWYERS URGED TO AID REFORM

Taft Denounces Recall of Judiciary in Speech Before American Bar Association

CALLS PLAN A WILD THEORY
Puts Burden of Reform in Judicial Procedure on Shoulders of Law Profession

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Addressing the members of the American Bar association in convention here today President Taft urged the lawyers to take up the work of reform in judicial procedure; denounced the recall as applied to the judiciary and urged the adoption of the arbitration treaties negotiated with France and Great Britain.

The president's remarks were greeted with enthusiasm by the 800 lawyers. The greatest demonstration came when the president advocated increase of salary for federal judges from $15,000 to $25,000 a year and when he referred to the recall as a "wild theory."

Recall is Denounced

Just preceding the president's arrival the convention heard the report of a special committee of former presidents of the association who presented a resolution denouncing the recall of the judiciary. This report was received with greatest applause. The committee included former Secretary of War Dickinson, Judge Alton B. Parker, Harry St. George Tucker, Virginia; George W. Leyman, solicitor general of the United States; C. F. Libby, Maine, and Geo. C. Rawle, Philadelphia.

The president did not specifically name the recall of the judiciary in his address but only one interpretation was put upon his words by his legal minded audience. The president said:

Constitution Elastic

"I am filled with gratitude for the men of 1787-89, those marvelous men who made the constitution. In these days when all are for progress, it is of benefit to the community that we have an instrument of sufficient elasticity to meet our changing needs and sufficient restrictions to keep out wild theories that if tried would injure the community and prove a failure. I thank God for John Marshall, who decided that the courts have the right to make the laws of the legislatures square with the constitution."

Speaking of the need of reforms in judicial procedure, President Taft said:

"We lawyers, who know best the need for reform, must take up the burden of initiating reform."

The president then told what the members of the supreme court were doing in this direction, Justice Lurton being now engaged in studying procedures in English courts.

Would Raise Salaries

"The salaries of justices on the supreme court bench ought to be made $25,000," the president declared. "A man called upon to exercise the responsibilities of the position with the ability and learning requisite, ought to be amply paid and freed from the necessity of lecturing at law schools to eke out his income."

The president advocated the use of the new court of commerce in Washington as a court of patent appeals.

The president then took up his plea for the ratification of the arbitration treaties with France and Great Britain and discussed the objections of the senate from a legal standpoint.

Promises on Water

"I am most anxious that the treaties be left unamended as I want them to mean something and accomplish something. We won't go ahead with this arbitration business unless we are willing to assume obligations to execute judgments which we may not like. If we say we'll wait until specific questions came up before agreeing to arbitration, and then conclude that we cannot win and so declare the question not justifiable, then we will have written our promises in water. Such a course will obstruct the progress of international arbitration and make it be the laughing stock of the nations."

GOOD CROPS ALL OVER STATE, REPORT

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—The grain yields on the university farm, where threshing was completed early last week, run slightly lower than last year's, due to the extremely hot season, and may be considered a fair criterion of southern Wisconsin crop results. Oats in the best fields pedigreed No. 3, ran 54.4 bushels per acre, and pedigreed No. 4 ran the same. Select Delogena went 27.2 bushels to the acre, and Wisconsin pedigreed No. 9 barley ran 38 to the acre.

Considering the character of the season, Prof. R. A. Moore regards the yields as good. Reports from threshers elsewhere in this vicinity show yields that go somewhat below those of 1910. In sections farther north plentiful rains fell, insuring heavier yields. As a whole, however, according to Prof. Moore, there will be good crops all over the state.

DEAD ARE ROBBED IN THEATER PANIC

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—Evidence that vandals robbed the dead during the terrible panic in the Morgan opera house here last Saturday night, when twenty-six persons lost their lives as the result of a false alarm of fire, was uncovered today.

Twelve gold watches, several diamond rings and brooches and purses containing various sums of money totaling $250 were reported as missing today when the owners called at police headquarters.

The police found many purses but not a single one of them contained any money, and from all appearance were stripped and thrown away. Four leather purses were found empty in garbage cans nearby.

OHIO RAILROADS VALUATION GROWS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 31.—The new state tax commission announced today that valuation of railroads in Ohio had been increased $406,764,650, the total valuation being $573,234,429, or three and one-half times as much as the same companies were valued on the tax duplicate of 1910.

The above figures are a fair indication of the increase this year in the valuation of the property of all big corporations throughout Ohio.

The new commission plans to put the actual value of all property on the tax duplicate and their valuation of some corporation properties has jumped 100 per cent.

WOMAN'S WILES ARE U.S. CLERK'S UNDOING

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The wiles of a female government detective were held accountable for James Prin being lodged in the Tombs today, awaiting arraignment charged with thefts amounting to thousands of dollars from homecoming tourists. The specific accusation against Prin, who was $900 a year employed in the United States appraiser's stores, is the theft of a ring worth $350 from Mrs. J. P. Morgan in 1907. Prin's arrest, it is understood, came through the work of a woman, the secret agent of the government, suspicion having been directed toward him for several years.

TAX VALUATION OF STATE $2,941,412,842

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The valuation of all property for taxation purposes in the state for 1911 is $2,941,412,842, according to the figures of the assessment, announced by the tax commission today. Of this amount real estate bears $2,202,225,226, and personal property $739,187,616. Milwaukee county heads the list with a total assessment of $578,715,754. Dane county is second with $138,501,543, and Rock is third with $84,942,581.

La Crosse county real estate is assessed at $29,232,072; personal property at $15,188,392. All property at $44,420,464.

BUSINESS COLLEGE

SEPTEMBER 5th, 1911.

This is the only School that teaches the complete course of instruction recommended by the U. S. Educational Commissioners, Wash., D. C. our course prepares students for Civil Service Examinations

WE ASK YOUR CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF THE ADVANTAGES OFFERED BY THIS institution to all who desire to lay a substantial foundation for business success. Through a thorough course of instruction we aim to secure the highest development of the business capacities of our students. Our course of Study has stood the test of a great many years and is admitted, by those competent to judge, to be the VERY BEST. Our system is so arranged that no time is wasted, nothing learned that has to be unlearned later in the business office. Our students learn more in a given time, graduate in less time and are more competent to grapple with the realities of a good business office, than those of other schools whose course of study does not admit of so complete a rounding out of the business faculties of the student. We are at all times familiar with the progress of each student and hold ourselves responsible for his advancements. Our tuition charge is moderate and includes all branches taught in the College, and the time is unlimited—the student attends until he graduates. We trust you will recognize the importance of a PRACTICAL education, and that you may decide to attend our school this fall. We have ample facilities for aiding our graduates to PROFITABLE EMPLOYMENT and we are unceasing in our efforts to do so. Our school is well known throughout the West as one of the most successful of its class. Our students come from the best city, town and country families, and are the best and most desirable of our young people. Taking it all together, we have the Best of Everything—Teachers, Course of Study, Reputation for Competent Help among business men, and facilities for aiding our graduates to profitable employment. In the following we give a partial list of the Keefe Business College Army of Graduates who draw approximately $100,000 a year right in the city of La Crosse. This list, incomplete as it is, will give an idea of the fine, intelligent body of young people engaged in commercial work in this city, as well as the fine class of business people by whom they are employed.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Pittsburgh, 6-0; Boston, 4-6
BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Marty O'Toole, the pitcher the Pirates paid $22,500 for, made good in his major league debut here yesterday in the first game of the double header, defeating the Rustlers 6 to 4. Errors by the Pirates aided the home team in scoring its four runs. Old Cy Young shattered the Pirates' pennant aspirations by shutting them out in the second game, the Rustlers winning 6 to 0. Young allowed but five hits and was invincible in the pinches. Score:

PRICE GIVES BUT ONE HIT

Southpaw in Great Form in Yesterday's Battle;
Kelly Makes Batting Record

With yesterday's game the cork is laid on the shelf until next spring as far as the local sporting public is concerned and the pigskin will soon be flying across the goal posts. The La Crosse Outcasts made a good ending if the rest of the season has been a trifle under the La Crosse standard of the national game, and the last game was decided in favor of the Bondies by a score of 3 to 1. Price pitched his best game of the season yesterday afternoon, allowing the Rochester Surgeons but one hit during the entire contest. However, the Lumberjack southpaw was a little off in his locating the rubber and issued five passes. The locals on the other hand took an opportunity to fatten their batting averages at the expense of Mr. Brenner, who did the twirling for the cellar champs, making a total of ten hits, three of which were for two sacks.

Kelly, as usual, lead with the stick, making a double and two singles. This brings the first sack's average for the series to .750, having made nine hits out of twelve times at bat. Five of the nine hits were two baggers, which gives him a total of fourteen sacks. Lang made the only hit off Price which he labeled for two sacks in the second frame. Bond again pulled the fancy fielding prize by making a running catch with his right hand and also lifted the bean for a clean single.

The only score of the Rochester club was made in the second frame of the contest when Shortstop Nye was given a walk and second. Lang's double on top of this sent the run over the plate.

However, the Outcasts managed to tie the score in the first of the third round. Kelly lifted out a two bagger with two men down and Safford duplicated, sending Kel home. From then until the seventh inning the warriors battled neck to neck for victory in what was an apparent extra inning.

In the lucky frame, Klein reached the initial sack on a bingle and annexed the next sack. Kelly then came to the rescue with the customary swat, counting the necessary run. In the eighth Black bingled and managed to steal the rest of the sacks, bringing the total tallies to three.

ONE HUNDRED NOTABLE FIGURES IN BASEBALL

NO. 87—HERMAN LONG.

Who Restored Boston's Glory

Once upon a time, Frank G. Selee, manager of the Boston boys, came to the open conclusion that it would be a good thing to plant a pennant in the front yard of his establishment. There hadn't been any pennants visible in those parts for many a year—not since 1883, and now it was getting gossip in big league circles that the Boston team had gone back. Mr. Selee took counsel with Mr. Soden, who owned the outfit, and they harnessed up a bunch of dollars to the number of 6500, and sent same out to Kansas City, where the man they were after had been performing, and Kansas City delivered the goods, and that was how Herman Long got to Boston, and how Boston got to the pennant again—not once, but many times.

In every one of the championship years, Herman Long was a prop. Some justice would seem to suggest that much of the credit for the record wins belongs to the memory of Herman Long. Memory, in this instance, is unfortunately accurate. Herman being no longer with those who run the bases and kill the hits. While he lasted, however, there was none beside him, and when he went to Boston from the west, he carried with him his wonderful gifts of fielding, of hitting, of baserunning and of generalship, and thus became a permanent sensation of which the Boston team and the Boston fans were justly proud, and in whose achievements sportdom generally was interested.

Long's figures for fielding in the five years he helped win the championship for Boston are worth a brief recalling. In the first year, 1891, his percentage was .902; in 1892, it was .888; in 1893, .886; in 1897, .908; and in 1898, he reached the .927 mark. And all this time he was hammering out and drawing a percentage for batting that was highly grateful and comforting to the rooters.

But it was in the covering of his position at short stop that Herman Long made his greatest, gained his greatest vogue. He was as active as a flea, and all over the infield and part of the outfield at once and the same time. He covered more ground than an automobile out for an endurance test, and he had a way of dragging things out of the air that would have done credit to a professional magician. He robbed more batters of hits than any man of his time, and after the other fellows had come to an appreciation of the danger of driving toward short, there was a united effort to slam to right. This, however, you can't always do; sometimes you are bound to drop the ball where you didn't intend it to fall, and our friend Herman Long never lacked for practice.

And when he once had his large Teutonic hands on the ball, the man who drove it was practically out. Herman had a marvelous faculty of speeding the sphere to the base almost before he had straightened for the throw. Try this yourself some time, and see how necessary it is to reach a perpendicular before you let go. No other fielder in memory was able to do this thing the way Herman Long did it, and for this and for other accomplishments, his name was great in the land.

But, just to the proof of the all too brief memory of the public when Long died of consumption in Denver in 1909, there wasn't a nickel in the locker, and his friends were conspicuous by not being around the once great and popular player. These circumstances so worked on the sympathies of Harry Pulliam, at that time president of the league, that he started an agitation for a home for indigent players. Before anything could come of this admirable project, Mr. Pulliam himself had joined Herman Long.

Tomorrow—Hugh Jennings, who plays ball the way you should play life.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—Frank Fusco of Altoona bet a fellow bather in the Juniata river he could stay under water for two minutes. He stayed under two hours, when his body was recovered.

ARTIST ESCAPES SUIT

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 31.—Edward Trumbull-Smith, noted Detroit artist, whose recent marriage to Miss Katherine Dreier, Brooklyn society girl and heiress, was followed by the sensational revelation that he also was married to a London flower girl, will not be prosecuted for bigamy, according to information here today. Desire of the Dreier family to avoid further notoriety is said to have led them to ask that no legal action be taken.

JOHN D. IS FASTIDIOUS

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Because he does not like the sight of delivery wagons driving up to the back door of his Pocantico Hills mansion, John D. Rockefeller is having a tunnel dug from the kitchen to the edge of his estate, a thousand feet away. The grocer's boy will use his wagon on the street and on the goods through the tunnel to house. To make more complete seclusion Rockefeller is also trying to have a street which runs through his estate closed.

RUPTURE IN PHILLIES CAMP

Pitcher Earl Moore of the Phillies and Charles Dooin, manager of the team.

NEW YORK CITY.—With Manager Charley Dooin laid up in Atlantic City hospital with a broken leg and the dispute over the trading of Pitcher Earl Moore to another team, the internal affairs of the Phillies comes to an acute head. There is a current rumor to the effect that there is a strong likelihood that Dooin will be replaced by another manager because of his determination to run the team while he is manager, in spite of the wishes of the owners of the league.
